CREATIVE FURNISHING FABRICS

Craigie Hill

Luxury fabric woven from the finest natural fibres.

Craigie Hill

Our fabrics are woven from natural fibres, predominantly wool. The safest choice for furniture upholstery and drapery, wool resists flames and static electricity and helps to reduce the stressful noise that surrounds us.

Although in use since time began, wool is the fibre for the future; it's ecologically sound. No matter what advances technology makes possible, synthetics will never recreate the comfort, strength, security and peace of mind that only wool can offer.

Luxurious, durable, biodegradable, recyclable and renewable, wool is the natural green choice.

Rannoch Moor

Beautiful and inspiring in equal measures, the Highlands of Scotland have transfixed generations since being discovered by Queen Victoria. The region is now sparsely populated and dominated by imposing mountain ranges, winding rivers, heather and ancient landscapes.

Using timeless designs, from classic paisleys, plaids and tweeds, to contemporary textured plains, damasks and the finest sheers, our collections are inspired by the natural splendour of this Scottish landscape. Truly a natural sourcebook of colour and design, right on our very doorstep.

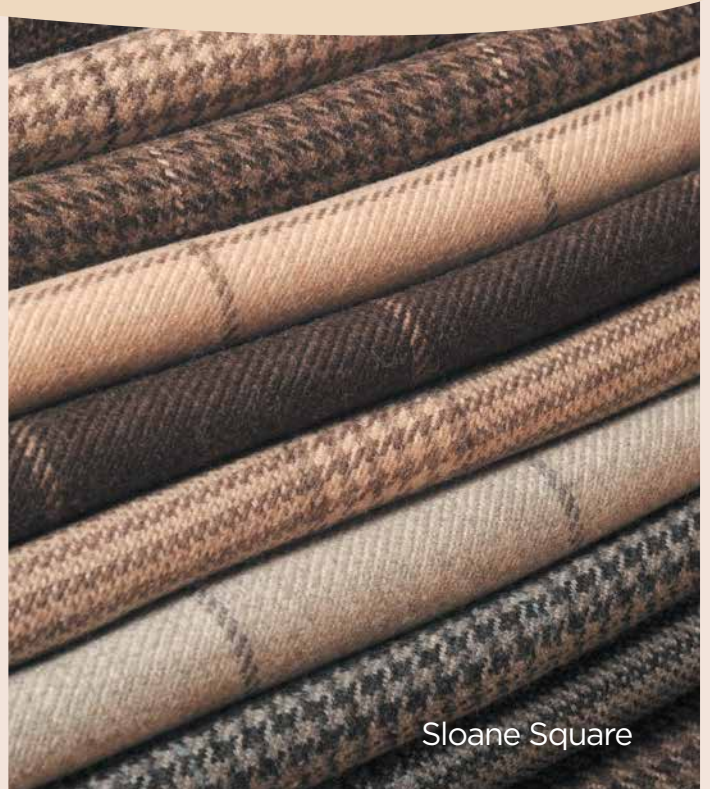

The Mill in 1901

The Isle Mill – family owned for over 230 years.

With a history stretching back more than 230 years, the company founded by Alexander Macnaughton continues as one of the oldest family companies operating in Scotland.

Tracing its roots to the banks of Loch Tay in the Perthshire Highlands, Alexander set up a small spinning mill in 1783 to process his neighbours' wool. Fabric weaving soon followed, and as skills and craftsmanship developed, so did the company's reputation for beautiful tweeds and tartans.

The Company is now headquartered in Perth to take advantage of the better communications that a city provides, but its heart, along with the weaving mill, remains in the Highlands. Although retaining many traditional skills, the company utilises modern and flexible manufacturing techniques; this allows The Isle Mill to provide its customers with efficient and prompt service.
